EDUCATION-OTHER OFFICERS. The prediction of TER TRIBUNE to regard to the election of officers for the Brooklyn Board of Education was verticed at the meeting yesterday in the choice of Joseph C. Hendrix as president of the Board to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer a member to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer a member to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer a member to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer a member to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer a member to succeed Robert Payne, who is no longer as the Mayor to the Robert Payne, who is no longer to the Robert Payne, who is not the Robert Payne, who is not the Robert Payne, who is not the Robert Payne, which was not the Robert Payne, which was not the Robert Payne, which was not the Robert Payne, consider of Joseph C. Iterative as personal processing of the body. The recent appointments by Mayor Whitney, who took pains to substitute several Democrats of no experience in educational matters for Republicans who had served in the most important positions in the Board, changed the political aspect of the body. Tunis G. Bergen, who had served as president for several years, was strongly urged for the office again, but he is a Republican and the word went forth from Willioughby at that Joseph C. Hendrix, whom "Boas" McLaughlin pitted against Mayor Low in 1883 to see him ignominiously detected and who ewed his position in the Board of Education to the magnanimity of his opponent, should be "assated" for president. By a coalition of several factions of the Board he secured considerable more than a majority vote.

assetd" for president. By a coalition of several factions of the Board he secored considerable more than a majority vote.

An unusual number of speciators gathered in the rooms of the Board in Red Hook-lane yesterday at 4 p. m. Edward Rowe, the senior member of the body, who has seen a quarter of a century of service, was called to preside over the annual meeting. He told the members that they held the most benefable and responsible position in the State, and every one must do what he telt was best for the interests of education. Nominations being called for. Nelson J. Bates said that the Board was fortunate in having many men competent to fill the office of president, men who had done so in the past to the credit of the city. It was an honorable nod desirable position. It was the duty of the Baard by every menus in their power to create by systematic culture and broad intelligence law-abiding and self-supporting citizens. He then named as preminently qualified for the office of president Joseph C. tiendrix, who, he said, possessed executive ability and was is miliar with the work of the Board.

C. A. Battrick nominated ex-President Tunis G. Bergen, and Colonel John Y. Culyer presented the name of Vise-President John C. Kelley. The result of the first ballot was the election of Mr. Hendrix by 28 votes out of 4t. Mr. Kelley received 10, Mr. Bergen 3, while three blank often were cast.

When executed to the president's chair Mr. Hendrix grasped the gavel and made a brief speech. He said he regretived being removed from the contentions and dabates of the floor. In considering their environment he believed the members of the Board would see that they had a favorable opportunity to proceed with success in the business administration of educational affairs. Their rules and regulations had been revised and codifica, salaries of teaceners had been placed on a fair basis, and the zenure of office of members of the Board had been extiled. The city had made munificent appropriations for the schools, and the money should b 4.000.

The choice of satistant secretary to succeed Miles V. Byrnes was postponed. As the term of Superingent of Public Instruction Patterson does not exire until September 1, when he becomes principal of the Central Grammar School, his successor will not be central Grammar School, his successor will not be hosen until then J. W. Naughton, who receives 5,000 a year as Superintendent of Buildings, was reduced, and W. F. Cunningham was re-elected acqueent.

re-cleeted, and W. F. Cunningham was re-cleeted angineer.

President Hendrix is about thirty-eight years old. He was born in Missouri, where his brother, the Hev. Dr. Eugene F. Hendrix, is a Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He was educated at Cornell University, but did not complete his course, and in 1873 he came to this city and became a respecter for "The Sun" through the inducate of Elication. He had charge of the Brooklyn de arthous for eight years. Mayor Low made him a member of the Board of Education in 1882. He was the Demoratic candidate for Mayor in 1883, but was deleated. He was soon after apply ciuted a Bridge trustee, and in 1884 was elected secretary of the trustees at a salary of $5,000. In 1886 President Claveland appointed him posimustic, of Brooklyn to succeed General James McLeer. He has served for five years in the Beard of Education and has been at the head of important committees. He is depended upon to control the Beard in the interests of McLaughlin.

rushed to the scene, but all that they could ascertain was that there had been an explosion without any ascertainable cause, and finding no one to arrest they retired and resumed their beats.

A THIBUKE reporter made an investigation and fearned that what had occurred was the result of a prans played upon a pedier by some young men. The pedier has for some time been in the habit of driving a cart ladon with the fragrant garbage gathered at uptown hotels through the street at night, collecting unasvery refuse from barrels as he passed along. Residents in the neighborhood were annoyed by the odors emitted from his cart, and a plan was concerted to frighten him so that he would not drive that way again. Driving his wagon down Mulberry-st, on Monday night the pedier stopped in front of a barroom which he entered to take a glass of beer.

In his absence some persons unknown fired off an axplosive which they placed under the cart, producing the notice which alarmed the neighborhood. What the nature of the explosive was nobody seemed to know, but the general impression was that it was dynamite. A visit to the scene peaterday revealed the fact that great have to the barroom of J. Guiu, at No. 111 Mulberry-st, were broken, bottles of wine and glasses were demosibated, and the propertor will have to expend goany deliars in repairs. In the balicty of William Gibbenhouse, next door, every pane of glass and many crusts were broken, Stabbole Bronze keeps a greecry store at No. 113, the contents of which were so badly shaken up that his employes were keept busy yesterday for an hour or two in lifting up overturned barrels of onlone, potatoes and orates of fruit and arranging them in their proper positions.

Crowds in the streets discussed the effects of the explosion, and the heliof was expressed that it was not intended to inflict bedily harm upon the peller, whose name no one could give, but that he had probably been so 'eadly frightened that he would keep away from that part of the city for some time to come.

The freaker's polute throughout his address were received with applanas. He called attention to the fact that the enemies of protection who are constantly alert in apreading their theories are loud in declaring that the tariff is not an issue.

"England's goods, the has preached that gospel both with the pramphlet and the bayonet." The speaker demoured the Morrison horizontal tariff bill, and said that 20 per centreduction in the tariff inseant 20 per centreduction in the varies of the workingman. NO SOLUTION TO THE FAMOUS DEAL. CONTRADICTION BY BOTH COMPANIES.

MR. GOULD PROFESSES IGNORANCE-MR. SAGE USE AN ILLUSTRATION -MR. IVES SAYS NOTHING. Well Street was watching carefully and perhaps carnestly praying yesterday for a reasonable solution of the famous Baltimore and Ohio "deal." It had come to be accepted as a fact that a settlement of the telegraph difficulties was near at hand and that the Baltimore and Ohlo telegraph lines were soon to become part parcel of the Western Union system. The ground for this belief was the fact that Robert Garrett, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, some time ago gave an option for the control of the company to Henry 8.

Ives, the head of the stock exchange firm of Henry 3.

Ives & Co.

It was understood that Mr. Ives had paid to President Garrett several hundred thousand dollars in each on account of this privilege and in further compliance with the terms of the contract, hal pledged securities to the amount of about $1,800,000 with him. So far as can be ascertained, it was the expectation of the Ives syndi-cate that the Western Union Telegraph Company would be a ready buyer of the telegraph lines and that the pro-ceeds of this sale would supply the means for the further promotion of the scheme. The final disposition of the control of the railroad company was not made apparent and some persons were so sceptical about the "deal" as to regard it merely as an indication of Mr. Garrett's desire to retire from the telegraph business. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad owns the stock of the telegraph company and since the extension of the the telegraph company and since the extension of the system there have been occasional signs that the company was not altogether satisfied with its new venture. On the company's books, the cost is said to be stated at over $6,000,000, although this represents the entire charge for construction and maintenance of the lines since their establishment. When the railroad company ready'eft to throw open the lines to a commercial business, it began to extend them and to become an active rival to the older company. The Western Union has constantly alleged that the experiment was a failure, while the Baitimore and Ohio has urged with equal confidence that the carrings were entirely satisfactory.

The recent negotiations between the Western Union Company and the holders of Mr. Garrett's privilege are said to have been broken off. Jay Gould said yesterday to a Taibuns reporter:

The recent negotiations between the western Company and the holders of Mr. Garrett's privilege are said to have been broken off. Jay Gould said yesterday to a Taibusa reporter:

"I do not think I know anything about what you call the Baltimore and Ohio deal. Mr. Ives and his friends have made overtures to me about the Baltimore and Ohio telegraph. They have offered to sell it at a price in the meighborhood of $3,500,000. This is too large, but before entering upon negotiations for the purchase, we required Mr. Ives to show us his authority to transfer the property if we could agree on a price. He has not yet been able to satisfy us about this, and consequently there are no negotiations. I find that most of our directors are not inclined to buy opposition lines at any price.

"The change in sentiment about the policy of the company has been very great. It is thought that an opposition is not altogether a bad thing especially when this company has clearly demonstrated its ability to earn money at the low rates. We were never doing being than we are now and in our case the crisis has been passed. I do not think we shall lose anything by waiting a while before we buy out opposition lines. I am satisfied that we can get them whenever we please."

Russell Sage said: "The Western Union is a good deal like a man emerging from a cold bath. The chill of a powerful opposition is over and the natural glow has now set in."

Henry S. Ives deciared that he had no statement whatever to make in regard to the present condition of the Baltimore and Ohio "deal."

He was in tavor of taking such violent measures as Washington took to effect a separation of Ireland from Great Britain. Mr. Ryan maintained that this organization was for Home Rule, and should honor all Englishmen who aided in the effort in that direction. After considerable more discussion the resolution was carried with two dissenting voices, and the following committee was appointed under it: Joseph P. Ryan, James A. O'Gorman, Thomas Callahan, E. F. ### THE WASHINGTON POSTMASTERSHIP. DIFFICULTY IN FINDING A PIT CANDIDATE-A NON-

RESIDENT MAY BE SELECTED. Washington, July 12 (Special).—Washington is torn up over the appointment of a city postmaster. The President seems unable to and among the many respectable men in this town who are Democrats a man who is fit to be postmaster. Postmaster. General Vilas has gone to his relief and urged the appointment of Mr. Enright, of Detroit, Mich., a pro-tere of Don Dickinson. It is given out that the President is so distracted by the conflicting claims of respectable citizens of the District that he may of respectable citizens of the District that he may feel obliged to go outside for a postmaster. The gruth is, probably, that Mr. Cleveland has become somewhat disgusted with the District ring headed by Marshai Wilson and yet is not prepared to "recognize" arry District Democrat who does not belong to it. One of the anomalies of the situation, and yet one of the mest natural things in the world, is that William Dickson, who came to Washington as a soldice in 1861, has lived here ever since, and who is a member of the lemocratic National Committee and whose appointment has been spoken of as probable, is stigmatized as a carpet-bagger.

Mr. Porter—Fresident Coleman is always in favor of reducing appropriations. He considers it his duty. I think it my duty to come he said sek for the amount of money I think we require, leaving the responsibility of reducing the estimate with the Board of Estimate.

THE COLOR LINE AMONG CLERGYMEN.

REPORT OF THE DELEGATES WHO WITHDREW FROM THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION IN MAY.
CHARLESTON, S. C., July 12.—The committee appointed by the cierical and lay delegates who withdrew from the diocesan Episcopal Convention in Charleston last May have completed their statement of the cause which led to the withdrawal. It is signed by ex-Secretary C. S. Memuinger, Edward McCrady, Jr., W. St. J. Jervey, W. C. Benet and C. G. B. Drayton. The committee begin by sketching the history of the dividing question during the last twelve years. In 1885 the question took the shape of an ascertion of the right of all clergymen on the bishop's list to seats in the convention independent of the action of that body and by virtue of the clergyman's office. The subject came up again in the convention last May, not as a matter of principle only, but as involving the question of the admission of colored clergymen to the church councils. The bishop having ruled, notwithstanding the refusal of the convention to confirm the report of the committee on the clerry list, that the convention was duly organized for business, and having ignored the refusal of the convention to sustain his ruling, the dissidents had no choice but to submit, protest, resort to parliamentary expedients' the convention. It is recognized by the committee, how-ever, that the point to be determined is whether the admission of colored elergymen to the convention was contemplated in the constitution of the Church. They contend that it was not, and that is the first attempt in the history of the Church to make a church other than a national church—that is, the church of a race. They

a national church—that is, the church of a race believe the scating of colored clergymen in the convention to be not only unconstitutional but dangerour. It is argued that there is no danger whatever to any of the social barriers between the races. If the colored people be taken into councils and churches as the equals of the whites, but the committee are consident that the actual and practical result would be to lores negro social equality upon the people.

The importance of the congregations represented by the dissidents who withdrew from the convention, is shown in an unmistakable way. Those who withdrew represented more than half of all the persons connected with the church, and more than half of all the communicants. The committee say that, in withdrawing from the convention, they did not withdraw from the church. It is for the laity to determine what their future course shall be. They will not impair their connection with the church by withdrawing from union with the convention. They can if they choose send deputies with instructions to abandon the position which has been taken, and in admitting the colored element to the church councils. "brave the dangers" from which the disablents shrink. But if the laity desire that the right to pass upon the clergy list shall be abandoned, they must choose to represent them there deputies than those who withdrew from the convention of 1887.

A LIVELY CEMETERY ELECTION.

THREE TICKETS FOR TRUSTEES OF CYPRESS HILLS-THE "REGULARS" WIN.

The election of three members of the board of trustees of Cypress Hills Cometery was held at the rooms of the board at Grand-st. and the Bowery yesterday. As was predicted the election was a close and exciting one, and excited no little interest among plot owners, and ercited no little interest among plot owners, for between 1 and 4 p. m. 1,900 votes were cast. There were three tickets in the field. "The old ticket," as it was called, was for the re-election of the members whose terms of office expire this week, while the other two were opposition tickets. The regular ticket was elected, but it was a "close shave." It was stated that if the two opposition factions had united their forces on one ticket they would have been mon who are re-elected are Edwin Driggs, president, A. M. Suydam, and John T. Runcle. Mr. Runcle is superintendent of the comestery as well as a member of the board of trustess, and while he has held the position for twelve years, having assumed the management when the cemetery had got into ill-repute through bad handling in 1865, and has, as he says, made a financial success out of a losing investment, still the opposing owners maintain that the management of the place could be materially "improved and moderuled." Another cause for dissension is that Mrs. Taylor and her daughter were recently robbed in the cemetery owing to the fact that the place has no special police protection.

A regular meeting of the trustees will be held on

A regular meeting of the trustees will be held on Monday and it is stated that Mr. Runcie will then send in his resignation as superintendent, for he is seventy-five years old and is troubled with rheumatism. It is also expected that the board will take some action in regard to the establishment of a police force in the cemetery, at that meeting.

OCEAN GROVE, July 12 (Special).—At the Sunday-schoo Assembly this morning Mrs. Loomis gave the boys and girls a lesson on the "Life of Moses." The Rev. J. F. Clymer delivered three normal lessons on "Bible Land and City," "The Old Testament a Preparation for Christ" and on the "Principles of Instruction." The hour given to "Musical recreation" under Professor J. R. Sweeney

Bolton gave a lecture on "Romantic Rhineland," illustrated with stereoptioon views. Every atternoon there is a class for training young men and women in the knowledge and use of the Scriptures and for fitting them to become efficient workers in religious meetings.

RURYING THE "MYSTERY" VICTIMS. The funeral of Mrs. Mary Brandle, one of the victims of the capsizing of the yacht Mystery on Sunday, took place yesterday from her home, No. 338 Bushwick-ave., Williamsburg. The burial took place in St. Johu's Ceme

The bodies of the three little children of Mrs. Obernier. who was also lost, lay in the front parlor of their home, No. 148 Voret-st., yesterday. The body of Mrs. Obernier has not yet been recovered, and the heartbroken father and husband has not yet set the day for the funeral and husband has not yet set the day for the funeral. The little bodies were embalmed yesterday so as to be able to preserve them until the body of their mother is recovered and bury them all together.

The excitement over the disaster had materially absted in Carnarsie, N. J., yesterday. The removal of the bodies of the dead which are recovered from their watery graves and the absence of the large crowds of relatives and friends of missing persons and the curiosity-seekers contributed to that result. There are, however, atili many suxious watchers by the wateraide awaiting the news of recovery of all that may be left of some dear one. No mere bodies have yet been brought in, and it is doubtful whether any more will be recovered in that vicinity, the tide having carried them out to sea. No more satisfactory account of the manner in which the accident occurred or the causes leading to it has yet been obtained.

The triple funeral from the O'Brien household in Canarsie, will take place this afternoon, when the bodies of Mrs. Margaret O'Brien and her two children, William, age five, and John, age three, will be buried.

SHARP WILL PROBABLY GO TO PRISON. THE JURY PETITION TO JUDGE BARRETT COLLAPSES

—MR. CANFIELD WITHDRAWS.

Jacob Sharp will be brought before Judge Barrett in the Court of Oyer and Terminer at 11 a. m. to receive sentence for the felony of which he was convicted two sentence for the felony of which he was convicted two weeks ago. What that sentence will be is of course known to Judge Barrett alone, but what has been made public concerning the contents of a letter which he wrote to W. J. Cannield, who was foreman of the jury that brought in a verdict of guilty against Sharp, seems to justify the inference that Sharp will be sentenced to Sing Sing for a term of years, netwithstanding Mr. Stickney's efforts to get the members of the jury to sign a petition to Judge Barrett requesting him to let Sharp off with a fine. That movement seems to have collapsed, and it is fine that movement seems to have collapsed, and it is signatures to the petition which he did get Canfield, who was the first to sign the petition in response to Mr. Stickney's plaintive pleading, yesterday withdrew his signature, hav-pleading, yesterday withdrew his signature, having arrived at the common-sense conclusion after the receipt of Judge Barrett's letter, that the petition would do no good and that it would be better to trust entirely to Judge Barrett to satisfy the requirements of justice and mercy.

"I gave Mr. Stickney to understand when I signed the petition that my signature was to remain only it case all the jurors signed it," and Mr. Canfield. "I have been informed that two of the jurors have absolutely refused to sign it. I do not believe that the petition would have the slightest effect upon Judge Barrett. I wrote a letter to the Judge in which I appealed to his to be lement with Sharp, because of his ago and many infrantites. He answered me very kindly and intimated that he would have to imprison Sharp, but that the term would be short. I think, therefore, that Mr. Stickney would do well-to withhold the petition altogether and rely entirely on Judge Barrett's kindness of heart."

The approach of the time when he will be freed from the burden of suspense seems to have had a good effect upon Sharp's health and apprits. He was better yesterday than he had been for several days. Unless a great and unexpected change for the worse takes place in his condition he will be able to appear in centrato-day to receive sentence. Yesterday morning three of his lawyers, Mr. Stickney Mr. Parsons and ex-Judge Nelson were engaged in consultation with him for two hours. That would not seem to indicate that his mental faculties had suffered much, and certain it is that Judge Barrett will not take up nearly so much of his time this morning in passing sentence. Yesterday, by the direction of District-Attorney Martine, Dr. Juneway and Or. Allan Melane Hamilton made an examination of Sharp. They were with him from noon until 1 p. m. Their report with each of the surface of the same and examination of sharp. They were with him from noon until 1 p. m. Their report with a visit to Sharp in the afternoon, and in the course of the day he was also vi

District Attorney Martine left Faratoga last night, and will be on hand in court this morning.

Sharp went to bed at his usual hour, 9:30 o'clock, last night. He was apparently not at all depressed by the prospect of the ordeal that awaited him on the morrow and up to a late hour there was no change in his condition to indicate that he would be noable to appear in court this morning. He will leave the jail at 10 o'clock in the Sheriff's conveyance.
